

BIOGRAPHY

DAVID PRICE, U.S. CONGRESSMAN

David received his undergraduate degree at UNC Chapel Hill and then went on to Yale University for a Bachelor of Divinity Degree and a Ph.D. in Political Science. Before he began serving in Congress in 1987, David was a professor of Political Science and Public Policy at Duke University.

He currently serves on the House Appropriations Committee, including two of its subcommittees: Homeland Security and Military Quality of Life/Veterans Affairs. David is a recognized leader in foreign policy, serving as ranking Democrat on the House Democracy Assistance Commission, which he initiated to strengthen parliaments in emerging democracies. In North Carolina, David's constituents also know him as a strong supporter of education, accessible health care, affordable housing, clean air and water, and improved transportation alternatives.

David is a native of Erwin, Tennessee. He and his wife Lisa live in Chapel Hill and are parents of two children and the proud grandparents of a grandson born in 2006.
