English Conversation Hour February 12th, 2008

This time the English Conversation Hour was dedicated to the upcoming Valentine's Day and the American traditions and customs were discussed along with reading love poetry, selected by the Peace Corps volunteer Patrice Koerper for the 13 attendants, AC Bitola members. Patrice also brought up a box with sweets to get the US tradition for Valentine's Day closer to the members. The interactivity was initiated when the group started to make comparisons to the domestic holidays and their ways of celebration, that led to vivid discussion which produced many new words in English language for the participants.
